CFG provides cloud computing based business phone systems designed for today's mobile and distributed business world. The CFGWeb technology platform eliminates the need for expensive and technically complex on-premise legacy phone systems. By combining a hosted, multi-extension business phone system with advanced fax functionality, CFG simplifies business communication for modern, flexible business environments.

You and your employees will be able to create and send professional faxes and broadcast them to multiple people in the U.S. or overseas. You can block junk faxes, create custom cover pages, sign faxes electronically and attach documents. Each extension will have its own fax capabilities.

Sending faxes

You can send faxes by email, your online account, Microsoft applications and even by phone. Outgoing faxes are processed by CFG via the internet: they don't tie up your computer or phone line. Just send and go. No callers will get a busy signal. You will not have to wait for a fax to transmit. When it is successfully transmitted, your account will be notified.
